

A transition to Language Coach

Interview with Inge Klisiewicz, Reading Therapist, South Africa

“Neurolanguage Coaching[®] has helped me develop on a professional and personal level.”

Can you describe your professional career before taking the language coaching certification (LCC)?

I was and still am a Reading Therapist.

How did you find the course?

I believe that you should never stop learning. Neurolanguage Coaching[®] has helped me develop on a professional and personal level. I stumbled across this course and will never look back as the knowledge I have gained is invaluable.

Which highlights or insights did you gain from the LCC?

I learned how to effectively communicate with others. Honestly every minute of this course was a highlight.

“I am now teaching in a more brain friendly way.”

What was the immediate impact on your way of teaching after taking the course?

I am now teaching in a more brain friendly way. I take my student's needs into consideration and not my own needs anymore. I am also starting to see more needs from my students.

Were there any impacts on your personal life during or after the course?

This course has given me more self-confidence. I know now how to address people in a more effective way.

“This course has given me more self-confidence. I know now how to address people in a more effective way.”

How would you describe your professional development after the course?

I would like to start my own business and I am on the journey of becoming an entrepreneur.

How has the course changed the way you deliver a language course?

It would have changed my whole approach to delivering a language course.

“It would have changed my whole approach to delivering a language course.”

Is there any additional information that you would like to add?

I would just like to thank Rachel and the ELC team.

August 2020