

ELC Professional Neurolanguage Coaching® Certification Programme

Online

Professional Neurolanguage Coach Training

We are pleased to announce the ELC Professional Neurolanguage Coaching® Certification. A highly interactive online programme which involves deepening the skills of the Advanced Neurolanguage Coach, to become a Professional Neurolanguage Coach. It goes further into the neuroscience of empathy and the coaching principles and introduces new aspects, such as neuroculture - language and cultures, together with a deeper comprehension of language learning through a holistic coaching approach.

This is an online programme only consisting of 16 hours.

Virtual Classroom for the Online Course

This is a highly interactive online course - we use a virtual classroom software that allows course participants to see each other, speak to each other and share all kinds of media (presentations, whiteboard, video, internet access, etc.) and therefore it is just as interactive as a face-to-face course. The course has a very well-balanced ratio of theory and practice with a high degree of active coaching.

Programme Overview

This programme focuses on not only reinforcing the whole approach and method of Neurolanguage Coaching, but also deepens knowledge in neuroscience and the practical application of neuroscientific principles during the learning process, even to integrating cultural aspects. This course aims to consolidate and develop even further the skills of the Advanced Neurolanguage Coach, giving professionalism to the whole process and potentially preparing the Professional Neurolanguage Coach to train trainers.

The 16 hours of training is delivered in 2 to 4 hours online interactive learning sessions with a break in the middle of each session. Each participant will receive a comprehensive course manual (ELC Professional Neurolanguage Coaching Training Manual).

“This course is highly recommendable because it is a perfect mix of consolidating our knowledge about the neuroscience of coaching, learning and language and at the same time going deeper into this fascinating topic of neuroscience, neurofeedback and neuroculture. There was a time for theory, but also a great time for practice. The icing on the cake for me was „preparing cultural workshops with the brain in mind“ and „building language strategies“ for companies that go global or that change the Lingua Franca to English. This course was indeed extremely valuable for my future.”
